Schools' bus cost climbing

The cost of school bus transportation to the Granite City schools will increase to $3,597 per day, a 27.8 per cent increase over last year, under a contract with R.W. Harmon & Sons bus service approved by the Granite City Board of Education.

The school district requested bids on busing students twice, but received only one bid, that being from Harmon. The lone bidder was one of 11 companies sent letters requesting them to bid.

After lengthy discussion, the board decided that rejecting the bid and seeking a third set probably would not produce a lower bid, but may allow Harmon to increase its bid.

Tully A. Heubner, director of business affairs for the school district, noted the school transportation cost exceeded funds available in that fund by $63,515 last school year and the shortage had to be made up using state aid incomes at the expense of the educational fund.

The deficit will increase in direct proportion to the bus service contract and the cost of gasoline, which the school district supplies for all buses, he noted.

The contract accepted for bus service has provisions for annual renewals to make it a three-year contract and if the maximum increases are sought each year, bus service in three years would cost 51.6 per cent more than in the last school year, Heubner reported.

A 51.6 per cent increase would mean that the district would pay about $280,352 in the 1979-80 school year while revenues would total only about $580,605, resulting in a $239,747 deficit that year, an increase of

Chlorine hurts 12

A cloud of chlorine gas covered Arlington Swimming Pool about 5 p.m. Monday, sending 12 children and teenagers from 7 years of age to 17 to St. Elizabeth Hospital for emergency treatment.

Two youngsters, both 14 years old, were admitted to the hospital for further treatment and observation.

Inhaling the chlorine caused severe coughing spasms and difficulty in breathing. The gas apparently escaped from a cylinder while tanks were being changed over in the tank house. The procedure was being handled by the chief lifeguard, who had this responsibility. Although the equipment changeover was taking place inside a small building, the breeze must have picked up the gas carrying it over the crowd of Fourth of July swimmers. All those affected were children.

Admitted at St. Elizabeth Hospital were Maria Haug, 14, of 21 Shirwin Drive, and Kimberly Wilson, 14, of 7 Fairway Estates, who had chest pains.

Treated at the Granite City hospital and released were: Shelly Carner, 11, and Brett Carner, 8, of 109 Warsaw Lane; Janet Young, 16, of 22 Shirwin Drive; Devon Cavaletti, 9, and Kristine Cavaletti, 7, both of Collinsville.

Patti Humphrey, 15, of 47 Shirwin Drive; Carolyn

Rowden, 17, of 2233 Dawn Ave., and Daon Stoyanoff, 17, of 8 Holiday Mobile Homes Park, all lifeguards.

Toffant candidacy?

(Eighth of a series on politics in Madison County)

Long before the current federal investigation of the sheriff department in Madison County, the department consistently has been one of the most discussed and sought-after in county political circles.

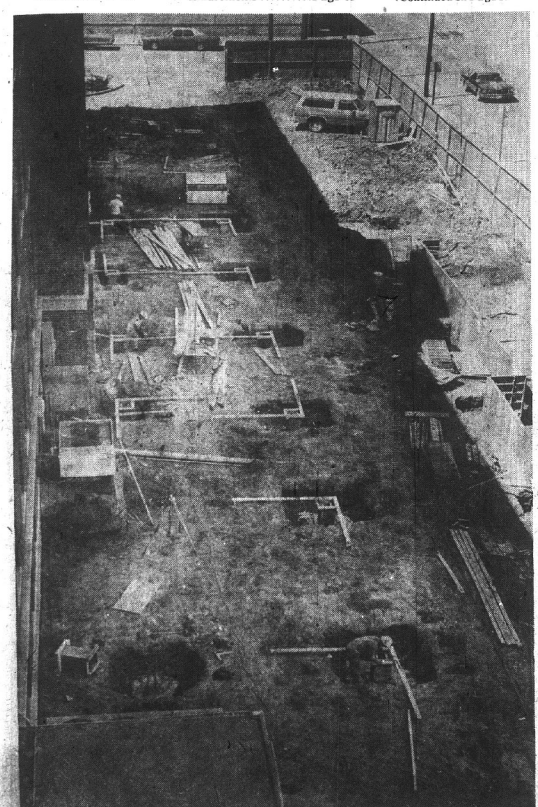

While the office of sheriff usually has been thought of in terms of politicians rather than non-political law enforcement professionals, one of the latter is being increasingly talked of regarding the next sheriff's term, to be decided in November 1978.

He is Emil Toffant, longtime Madison police officer, whose skill won wide recognition and led to his employment by the Illinois State Police.

Toffant advanced to the rank

FOUNDATION PILLARS are ready for construction of the single-level expansion adjacent to the oldest wing of St. Elizabeth Hospital built in the 1930's. The new addition will house expanding facilities of the medical records department as well as the physician's lounge, and the medical library. Madison Avenue can be seen at the top right with 21st Street at top.

Petitions seeking a fall special election — to require election of the superintendent of streets — will be presented to the City Council of Granite City tonight, Mrs. Mildred Crider said today.

"The people in Granite City are not happy," she commented. "Over 8,000 have signed petitions to get what they want done."

"Aldermen who are elected by the people in their ward are supposed to do what the people in their ward want done, not what they personally want

Bob Hope headliner at MRF

A busy third week of activities at the Mississippi River Festival, held on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, is highlighted by an appearance by Bob Hope as well as a special Children's Festival by the St. Louis Symphony, including Jack Carney of KMOX radio narrating "Peter and the Wolf."

The week begins on Thursday, July 7, with the second in the Festival's film series, the 1932 classic "Grand Hotel," a film that stars John and Lionel Barrymore as well as Joan Crawford and Greta Garbo. All of the films in the Festival series are shown in the Meridian Hall of the University Center at 7:30 p.m. Admission is by donation.

On Friday, July 8, at 8:30 p.m., Bob Hope returns to the Festival with the Woody Herman Orchestra. Hope, who started his career in a dancing act in a vaudeville Fatty Arbuckle review, has since become the established king of comedy, with hundreds of television appearances, dozens of feature films, thousands of radio shows, and even 36 honorary doctorates.

His performance at the Festival follows his successful show of two seasons ago.

On Sunday, July 10, the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra conducted by Gerhard Zimmermann, will perform a special Children's Festival that includes Jack Carney's narration of "Peter and the Wolf."

A number of special events are planned for the day, including clowns and other acts for the children, and a performance by the Suzuki Strings. Children are admitted free to the 7:30 p.m. performance on this date.

The Giovanni String Quartet performs in Meridian Hall on the campus on the second of the Chamber Music Series, Monday, July 11. Performed will be selections from Haydn, Mendelssohn, and Ginastera. The performance begins at 8:30 p.m.

On Tuesday, July 12, the Phyllis Lamhut Dance Company gives the first of three scheduled evenings of dance for this summer's MRF. Phyllis Lamhut, who with her company will be performing in the Communications Building is a contemporary of Alvin Nikolais and Murray Louis, and has been associated with both, first as a pupil, then as dancer, choreographer, teacher and colleague. It was in 1969 that she left the Nikolais company to begin her own.

The final performance of the week is Roy Ayers and Ubiquity on Wednesday, July 13. Ayers is one of the acknowledged masters of the vibraphone, having brought the vibes from a fairly limited range to a more expansive sound that he admits is "difficult to put into one category."

The group plays jazz, rock, latin, and soul with equal facility. Stanley Turrentine, a jazz saxophonist of long and high standing, is one of the leaders of the "crossover" movement that brought a number of jazz artists to wider popular appeal. His move toward more commercial music brought him a rush of new fans in the mid '70s while he still managed to retain the faithful Turrentine jazz purists.

Mississippi River Festival Director Lyte Ward reminded festival-goers that alcohol and glass containers are prohibited from the Festival site.

Weapon charge

Jessie L. Byars, 40, of 1204 Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with unlawful use of a weapon and not having a firearm owner's identification card after allegedly pointing a rifle at Bobby Hudson, 3701 Kirkpatrick Homes outside Hudson's home last week.

Hudson said he called police and they went out and took the gun away from Byars before officers arrived.

Byars allegedly told officers he took the gun from a car he saw burning at Route 203 and Bend Road, Illinois state troopers said the car had been stolen from East St. Louis and set on fire. Byars is not a suspect in the auto theft case.

Byars was released on a $5,000 recognizance bond by Associate Judge A. A. Matheson.

Toffant

of captain and commanded this state police district prior to retiring. He was utilized temporarily to direct major investigations in Illinois, including the still unsolved murder of a daughter of U. S. Senator Charles H. Percy.

Current controversy swirling around the office of sheriff has led to much speculation about Toffant running as a possible way of preserving the office for Democrats, or even as a method of restoring it to the Republican party.

The retired officer has said little about the topic but has not ruled out interest in the office if he concluded that he could contribute to increased public confidence in the department.

A Madison County deputy has recalled the time when deputies were instructed not to extend special cooperation to federal investigative officers.

"By this time, they realized the investigation was going on. We heard that they tried politics to get it stopped. People in Washington would not touch the thing," the deputy related.

"At this point, they got scared and started to get angry. People were asking each other about everything they did."

"There were lots of rumors. One of the rumors was that Emil Toffant would run for or be named sheriff."

"I understand he will run whether he gets the (Democratic) party nod or not. I am sure he is anticipating something as going to happen, and he would get a lot of backing from our men. I want someone who will let me do my job."

"The rules are haywire and don't apply to everybody. There is a lot of favoritism."

"Threats started to my wife quite a while ago. My kids also have been threatened. We were told that someone knew their nursery school and when it gets out."

Regardless of whether Toffant would consider running for the office of sheriff, there is said to be widespread belief that he could bring about major changes in procedures and, to a lesser extent, in personnel.

State Representative Everett Steele, Glen Carbon Republican, has said the GOP hopes to capture the sheriff and county treasurer posts next year and that the party has asked Toffant to consider running for sheriff as a Republican.

There also has been talk of Sheriff John Maeras, a former Madison County treasurer, running on the Democratic ticket for treasurer, opening that party's sheriff position to a Toffant candidacy.

Many assume that Treasurer George Musso will not seek reelection, or would be vulnerable if he did.

Treasurer hopefuls include Democrats James Augustine and Edward Younart.

Toffant is generally regarded as an independent.

Brothers charged

Lynn R. Barnhart, 26, of 2111 Alexander Ave., and his brother, Allen R. Barnhart, 21, of 2968 Iowa St., were arrested after an alleged fight at Allen Barnhart's home at 4:30 p.m. Monday.

Both were charged with disorderly conduct and Allen Barnhart also was charged with damage to city property after he allegedly kicked a window out of a police department squad car.

Officers said force had to be used to arrest Allen Barnhart and to place him in the squad car. He reportedly said that if he was placed in the squad car, he would break a window.

The window was kicked out as the police car arrived behind the police station.

Blood campaign

The pressing need for blood is always there, but the demand increases substantially at every holiday period, Red Cross authorities say.

To help meet the urgent requirement for blood following the Fourth of July holiday, Church Women United of the Quad-Cities is asking all area residents to come to the Red Cross bloodmobile at donor stations, scheduled on four days this week in Granite City and Madison.

Donor stations will be located at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church, 1900 St. Clair Ave., today, Wednesday and Thursday, and at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Tenth and Alton streets, Madison, Friday, July 8.

Hours for blood donations are from 2 p.m. until 7 p.m. each day.

The immediate need for blood by highway accident victims during a holiday weekend, always depletes supplies at area hospitals and the Missouri-Illinois Regional Red Cross Blood Center, 4050 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis.

All area hospitals, receive their blood supplies from the Red Cross blood center. The donated blood is processed at the center, stored there and distributed to the hospitals.

School bus

$176,231 over the deficit of this past school year.

Increasing revenues without a referendum would be impossible, since the 12 cent tax rate for the transportation fund is now at its maximum, Heubner stated.

Under the former three-year contract, in 1974-75, the district paid $2,250 per day for basic school bus services and that increased to $2,598 per day in the 1975-76 school year. In 1976-77, the cost was $2,813 per day.

After the 27.8 per cent jump for the upcoming school year, the cost will increase to 10 per cent in the 1978-79 school year and another 10 to 12 per cent in the 1979-80 school year.

Heubner reported the increases in the contracts with Harmon for school service was only about 10 per cent in the Alton, Edwardsville and Grant Community Consolidated districts, since they are entering the second or third years of three-year contracts.

Wood River, which is beginning a new contract, had a 25 per cent increase; and Belleville and O'Fallon, which share bus service, each had a 12.5 per cent increase for a 25 per cent increase in the combined Belleville-O'Fallon bus routes.

Heubner noted Harmon contends 20 per cent of the increase is directly due to increased labor and insurance costs and that "they have bid the contract at the lowest prices they feel they can offer."

School board members questioned why other districts noted a 25 per cent increase and Granite City had a 27.8 per cent increase, but decided to accept the contract rather than risk it being increased due to delay.

Heubner noted the Illinois Legislature is considering higher allocations for school transportation funds which might offset some of the impact of higher bus costs, but he has increases will not be sufficient to offset large deficits in upcoming years.

Bike ride to fight cancer

An enjoyable bicycle ride will be helping the American Cancer Society continue its service to cancer patients and support vital research work is planned Sunday, July 24, in Granite City.

July 4 fireworks attract 15,000

White-hot stars burst with resounding booms, sending cascades of brilliant shooting pinpoints of red, green, gold, pink and silver lights high over the treetops of Wilson Park last night to celebrate the nation's 21st birthday.

The traditional Fourth of July fireworks display attracted an estimated crowd of 15,000 people to the scene of the action in the central park area.

Carnival music blared loudly across the brightly lighted midway and the rides were in full force until the closing hour of 11 o'clock.

This morning, everything had vanished from the carnival site, where hundreds of area adults and children had gathered for hours of fun during the past five days.

The vanishment was not by accident.

GC Superintendent of Parks

Harold Brown worked along with a park district crew and routeabouts employed by Ray Sweeney Co. of New Athens, the rides owner, throughout the night to clear the area.

The dismantling and clean-up jobs were finished about 7 a.m. today.

No injuries were reported during the fireworks display, Brown said in a message relayed through his wife, Shirley.

"He's trying to catch a little sleep after getting home at 7 a.m., Mrs. Brown reported this morning."

The Fourth of July celebration, sponsored by the Granite City Park District, included a teenage dance, a country-western show and two matinee periods, when youngsters visited with clown guests and rode the midway rides at reduced cost.

Gateway endorses projects

Nelson Hagnauer, Madison County Board chairman, announced that the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council board of directors has endorsed two projects for Madison County communities.

Hagnauer, who is chairman of the Gateway Board, noted that the two projects, if approved by the funding agencies, would result in almost $4 million of funds to the two communities.

The first project is for water system improvements in Wanda, Carpenter, Worden, Livingston, and New Douglas. The Northeast Central County Public Water District proposes to construct water lines to provide potable water supplies to the area's rural residents.

The second project is for sewer system improvements in Godfrey and is the first phase of a three-step process leading to actual construction of sewer facilities. Step 1 is for analysis of 20-year sewer needs in the service area.

Areas to be studied in the Godfrey project include Rock Gates Estates, Tremont, Springhaven, Plaza Hills, Montclair, and Clifton Terrace. The projects will now be forwarded to appropriate state and federal agencies for final action.

Hagnauer also announced the Gateway Board's appointment of Wood River Alderman Lon Smith as one of 12 Gateway representatives on the board of directors of the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency (HSA). All Gateway appointees to the HSA Board are elected officials.

In other actions, the council endorsed a $30 million operating assistance grant application from Bi-State Development Agency and recommendations for transportation for the elderly and handicapped, including that Bi-State take the lead role in this effort.

Holy Trinity dedicates new addition, marks anniversary

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

An air of reverence, beauty and Eastern European tradition marked the 70th anniversary of the founding of the first and oldest Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church in America at Madison during the weekend.

Dedication services were held Sunday morning at the Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church, 13th Street and Grand Avenue, Madison.

A Vesper service was celebrated on the eve of the dedication at 5 p.m. Saturday.

During the vespers Archimandrite Damian Marinov, the Very Rev. Peter Stamboldjiev, pastor of Holy Trinity, and the Very Reverends Dimitar Popov, Boris Vangev, Dimo Videv and Rev. Deacon Rumun Milanov served Bishop Simeon on the throne.

The Very Reverends Christo Christov, P. Farnikov, A. Kney, and Rev. V. Evanasang on the choir.

On Sunday, the day of the dedication, at 8 a.m. the priests, vested in full robes, met the bishop at the entrance of the church.

The choir sang "Dostoyno Yes!". After the entrance prayer preceding his vesting, the Bishop blessed those present.

The choir then sang "Na Mnogaya Leta, Vladiko."

After the Bishop was invested the dedication of the church was held.

The procession began, led by the altar boys with the Cross and Angels, followed by the church choir, church board and the priests.

The Right Reverend Bishop Simeon was preceded by two senior altar boys, bearing the Bishop's pastoral staff and double and triple-branched candlesticks. Several hundred people followed the Bishop.

In addition to numerous church dignitaries, Mayor and Mrs. Paul Schuler of Granite City and Mayor and Mrs. William Ebersoldt of Venice attended.

After encircling the church the processional gathered in front of closed "western" doors where the choir sang, prayers were offered and Senior Altar Boy Tony Mangoff read from the Epistle of St. Apostle Paul to the Hebrews.

The procession entered the church where the bishop "anointed the icons, the walls (East, West, South and North), as one of the priests sprinkled the walls and the icons with Holy Water.

Standing in front of the Holy Altar, the bishop offered prayers with the choir response.

The bishop gave the benediction with the Holy Cross, marking the end of the dedication of the church and the

Seek release of area grant funds

Requests for the release of $177,400 in Community Development grant funds to the Quad-City area will be submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Wednesday, July 13.

The Madison County Community Development Office is requesting the release of $125,000 for surface drainage improvements in the North Granite City area, $46,000 for housing rehabilitation in Granite City, and $6,400 for housing rehabilitation in Nameoki Township.

The surface drainage program is being designed by city engineers who hope to improve drainage in North Granite City, the Melrose Addition, Briarcliff and Wilson Park Lane.

Several possibilities are being explored, including use of a holding pond to hold water until the city's stormwater sewers are able to accept the water after a storm.

The city's housing rehabilitation program calls for use of a revolving fund to purchase and relocate houses and then to sell them with the money going back into the fund.

A newly created Granite City Home Rehabilitation Board, chaired by Carl Kittle, is to administer the program. Proposed projects include purchasing houses at 2324 Delmar Avenue and 2605 Center Street for rehabilitation.

The Nameoki Township project calls for contracting carpenters, plumbers and others to repair and improve homes of low-income and elderly residents who have applied for such work.

The program has been funded for two years, but a change in the township administration kept any work from being done. Supervisor Harold Davis has pledged the township is ready "to get the ball rolling," as the township's housing rehabilitation committee has selected those projects with the greatest need and final approval is anticipated in the near future.

"I overheard one alderman from the Third Ward say that as long as he was alderman, he would do what he wanted. A man elected by the people should work for them, and if he doesn't he should be replaced by someone who will."

"I am chairman of the People's Right to Vote Committee and I can tell you the people are perturbed, to put it mildly. "We are going to present the petitions tonight, which should prove to the mayor and council how the people feel. Let's attend the meeting tonight and see what happens."

GC Steel to commission new wastewater system

A "commissioning" ceremony in which Granite City Steel will dedicate operation of its newly-completed wastewater treatment plant will be held Thursday beginning at 2 p.m.

Gov. James Thompson will attend the program with officials of Granite City Steel and National Steel Corp., and civic, city and community leaders. A tour of the new water pollution control system will be conducted.

The new plant is located just south of Highway 162 at the railroad tracks near 23rd Street.

The advanced, highly-instrumented plant has been designed to meet future as well as present clean water standards.

It applies third-stage treatment to water from Granite City Steel's stabilization basins, before discharge into Horseshoe Lake.

After processing, water discharged into Horseshoe Lake will be cleaner than when it originally entered the steel plant's water system at a pumping station on the Chain of Rocks Canal.

Tests have been conducted during the past week in preparation for placing the plant in operation, officials said.

Andy Lesko fifth in bass meet

Granite City's Andy Lesko placed fifth in a recent Mid-America Bass Fishermen's Association-sanctioned Wapawapelo invitational meet near Poplar Bluff, Mo.

More than 150 fishermen from three states participated in the third of six scheduled tournament series which was won by Tom Jean of Farmer City, Ill.

In two previous tourneys, Missouri anglers took top honors.

Numerous large bass were weighed in, but Lesko took top honors in that division of the meet after hauling in a seven pound, 11 ounce runner, using a jig and worm.

Another Granite City resident, Bill Bain, placed 17th with a catch weighing five pounds and four ounces.

The next event on the tournament calendar will be the Kentucky Lake invitational near Benton, Ky., on July 9.

Anglers wishing to compete may write: Mid-America Bass Fishermen's Association, Box 148, Osceola, Mo., 64778.

Humidity spurs garden fungi

By CHRIS DOLL
Extension Garden Adviser

Recent rains have revived gardens and gardeners' spirit. The drought did reduce yields and quality of some vegetables such as lettuce, beans, cauliflower, spinach, and greens. However, the long season crops such as tomatoes, peppers, sweet potatoes, etc. will continue to grow and will produce if given a chance. The high humidity that accompanied the rainy period was ideal for diseases and fungicidal sprays or dusts on susceptible plants may be needed. Many weed seeds have germinated since the rain, and weed control will also be needed. Otherwise, July can be a good month for the gardener, and here are some of the things to do:

It's time to enjoy sweet corn. Corn that is maturing in early July was planted in early to mid-April. The early-season varieties are good, but not as good as the mid-season varieties yet to come. There is time to make another planting or two for fall harvest. Side-dress long-season crops with nitrogen (33-0-0 or other formulations) at the rate of 1 pound per 100 feet of row. Keep the fertilizer off the foliage or irrigate immediately following the treatment.

Grapes are growing vigorously and the hot, humid weather in July favors rapid growth of diseases. Healthy plants mean good fruit, so bi-weekly sprays of captan or terbam should keep diseases in check. Add methoxychlor, sevin, or malathion for insect control at the same time. Cabbage is maturing and it will store in the garden for a week or two. Splitting of mature heads can be reduced by using a spade to cut roots on two sides of the plant. This reduces water uptake from rain or irrigation. Cabbage worms are most effectively controlled by using bacillus thuringiensis, a non-toxic bacterial spray sold as Dipel, Thurigide, or Bio-worm spray. Use according to directions on the package. The second peach borer spray is due July 5. Mix Garbaryl (Sevin) at three tablespoons per gallon and spray the trunks and crotches thoroughly. Tomatoes are showing early blight and blossom-end rot. Early blight is when the lower leaves show spotting, turn yellow and drop off; spray or dust with tomato fungicides. Blossom-end rot infections rot when ripening, mulching is the best control.

Keep trees, plants, and gardens watered as needed. Apply enough water to soak into the root zone rather than very light waterings. Remember, an inch of water normally moistens six inches of soil, and it takes 0.6 gallons of water per square foot to equal an inch of rain.

Cucumber vine wilt this year is generally from bacterial wilt. This disease is carried in the bodies of cucumber beetles and the plants are inoculated when the beetles feed on the cucumber plants. Kill the beetles before they feed, and the wilt will be prevented. Make another planting of cucumbers and snap beans early in the month. Fall garden crops of beans, broccoli, cabbage, spinach, and turnips can be made late in the month. Harvest onions when the tops have fallen over. Begin the curing process by undercutting the bulbs and leaving them lay for 24-48 hours. Then tie in bundles of 10-15 onions and cure by hanging in a dry sheltered area.

Spray ripening peaches and plums with either benomyl, captan, or sulfur to reduce brown rot (the soft rot of ripening fruits) at harvest time.

New rules for GI Bill payments to attend BAC

New Veterans Administration regulations may enable 500,000 veterans who are planning to attend Belleville Area College this fall to receive advance payment, according to John Silverster, director of Veterans Services.

In order to receive advance payment, veterans must be eligible for G.I. Bill benefits, not be attending BAC this summer, and be planning to attend BAC classes this fall. Veterans should contact the BAC Veterans Services office to request advance payment checks after they have pre-registered for fall semester classes. The deadline for requesting advance payment is July 15. Advance payment checks should arrive in mid-August.

Certification for veterans enrolled in summer classes who have already pre-registered for the fall, will be forwarded to the VA so that checks for August and afterwards will come without interruption.

Advance payment is only open to students who are not attending the BAC summer session. Veterans who are not attending the summer session and do not request advance payment will receive their first check in October.

Music publishers at workshop

Two major choral music publishers will be featured as guests of the Choral Workshop being held Wednesday through Sunday as part of the Summer Music Institute of the Mississippi River Festival on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Dr. James McKelvey, of the Mark Foster Music Company of Champaign, will discuss recent books on choral music and rehearsal techniques and will conduct a reading session of music for elementary, junior high school and church choirs as part of the workshop.

Don Hinshaw, founder and president of Hinshaw Music Inc. of Chapel Hill, N.C., will conduct two reading sessions, featuring music for younger and more mature choral organizations. Participants in the workshops will be given complimentary copies of publications by both publishing companies.

The addition of the two men, according to workshop director Leonard Van Camp of the SUE faculty, "will give workshop participants some unique insight into the choral art."

Dr. McKelvey will appear on Friday morning of the workshop, and Hinshaw on Saturday morning. Those interested in attending should contact Lois Lurtorf, telephone 892-2966, on the SUE campus.

The choral workshop is the fifth in the series of workshops musical, scheduled July 11-16 and directed by Vicky Holt, MRF arts administrator; Marching Band Techniques,

State to spend $61 million on 80 airport improvements

Details of the state's $61 million airport improvement program for fiscal year 1978 to rehabilitate airport facilities and improve traveler safety were announced Thursday by Governor James R. Thompson.

Funding for the program is comprised of $44.7 million in federal funds, $10.5 million in state funds and $6 million from local funds. The state funds are provided from the Series "B" Bond authorization for airport improvements.

During Fiscal Year 1978, which begins July 1, it is anticipated that 80 projects at 42 airports statewide will be undertaken. Nearly 2 per cent, or 14 projects, are grants carried over from the Fiscal Year 1977 program.

Projects were carried over into the Fiscal 1978 program because the Federal Aviation Administration did not release all of the federal funds necessary to meet state and local dollars committed to projects.

In addition, constraints on the overall sales of state bonds resulted in deferral of some projects into the coming fiscal year.

Governor Thompson said: "The improvements scheduled for the coming fiscal year are designed to preserve the state's investment in our air transportation facilities, improve safety for pilots and passengers and make the state a more attractive location for business."

Food stamp allotments increased

An increase in food stamp allotments and income eligibility levels for low-income families participating in the Food Stamp program has been announced by Arthur F. Quern, director of the Illinois Department of Public Aid (IDPA).

The increase, which reflects the August-to-February rise in food costs, became effective for most households Friday.

The allotment increase, based on the USDA Thrift Food Plan, will raise the value of the coupon allotment from $166 to $170 for a family of four.

Appropriate adjustments for other household sizes also will be made.

Coupon allotments by family size are: Family of one, $39; family of two, $91; three, $134; four, $170; five, $202; six, $242; seven, $268; and eight, $306. For each additional household member over eight, $38 is added to the eight-person amount.

Since income eligibility levels are tied to the size of food stamp allotments, these levels also will increase in most cases. The net income limit for a family of four will increase from $553 to $567 per month.

However income standards for one and two-person households will not change.

Maximum allowable income standards by family size are: Family of one, $245; two, $322; three, $447; four, $567; five, $673; six, $870; seven, $986; and eight, $1,020. For each additional member over eight, $127 is added to the eight-person eligibility level.

Persons who wish additional information about the Food Stamp program may contact local Illinois Department of Public Aid offices.

The insect threat to area crops is known as baris lepidi, previously was known only in Europe.

Pre-registration now open at BAC

Pre-registration for fall semester classes at Belleville Area College is under way. Students planning to attend the college may register between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday until July 29.

Anyone, whether a new student or a currently enrolled student, may go through pre-registration. A copy of the fall schedule may be obtained by calling the BAC admissions office.

Previously, tuition payments were required at the time of registration. Under the new computerized system, BAC students will be billed by computer after they have pre-registered.

Computerized pre-registration allows students to find out instantly which classes are still open and what classes they still need to take before they can graduate. The registrar's office has the capacity to register as many as 800 students per day.

Open registration will be held Aug. 15, 16, 17. However, to avoid last minute lines, students are encouraged to utilize pre-registration.

Man shot in motel incident

Paul Podraza, 29, Mascoutah, suffered a bullet wound to his right elbow and a cut to his head during an incident at the Illinois Motel, 1100 Niedringhaus Ave., at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Police were called to the motel on a report a man had been hit on the head with a gun. Officers found Podraza seated on the curb by the motel with a pool of blood at his feet. He was holding a towel to his head and complained of pain to his right arm.

Officers looked at his arm, finding a round hole near his elbow. He alleged the manager of the motel beat him.

Officers questioned Loren Worthen, 44, owner and manager of the motel, who admitted striking Podraza on the head with a gun. The gun then fell on the counter and accidentally discharged. He said he did not know the bullet struck Podraza.

Worthen said Podraza left the motel without paying for some telephone calls and Worthen followed his car to Niedringhaus and Edison avenues where Podraza was reminded of the phone bills.

Podraza became angry, saying he did not plan to leave without paying for the calls and he drove back to the motel, arriving before Worthen.

Worthen alleged that when he returned to the motel office, Podraza was already there, using profanity and being verbally abusive to Worthen's wife.

When Podraza allegedly refused to stop yelling, Worthen went around the counter and got a .38 caliber pistol, striking Podraza on top of the head, police were told.

The gun glanced from Podraza's head and struck the counter, discharging, Worthen said. Podraza then walked from the motel and sat bleeding on the curb.

Worthen said he asked his wife to call for police and to take a towel out to Podraza, which she did.

Podraza was taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted for surgery with a compound fracture of his upper right arm and a cut to his head.

Patricia Toney married in candlelight ceremony

Miss Patricia E. Toney, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Toney, 2337 Ohio Ave., and Rodney L. Hayes, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hayes, 2829 Denver St., were united in marriage, on June 11, at Tri-City Park Tabernacle Church.

The Rev. Clifford Barr officiated at the double ring service at 6 p.m. before an altar adorned with bouquets of white gladioli and white carnations. Immediately following the ceremony guests were received at a reception held at the Moose Hall with Mary Ann Candier, an aunt of the bride, attending the guest book.

Mr. Toney escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She chose a formal length ivory organza over tulle gown designed with a sheer V-neck and high ruffled collar. Venice and Chuny lace accented the Empire bodice and long full sheer sleeves which were cuffed with a self fabric ruffle. The full skirt fell softly into a chapeau train and was bordered with a deep flounce edged with lace.

Her cathedral length veil of ivory illusion was trimmed with Chuny lace and held in place by a lace carmelot hat.

She held a cascade of yellow Sweetheart roses, baby's breath, and stephanotis tied with lace and pearl streamers. Honor attendants Debra Hayes, a cousin of the groom, and Carlene Shook, the bride's cousin, were attired in yellow organza dresses fashioned with a ruffled collar which extended over the shoulders to create circular short sleeves.

Set-in midrifts accented the gathered skirts which were bordered with deep ruffled flounces draped in the back to form a bustle. Bridesmaids Janet Crawford, Peggy Anderson and Donna Toney, a sister of the bride, selected identically styled dresses in blue organza.

Each attendant wore a hairbraided picture hat in hues to match their attire, enhanced with matching organza bands and streamers. They carried fans accented with clusters of yellow and white daisies, baby's breath and miniature carnations.

Terri Mitchell served as flower girl and wore a yellow organza frock trimmed with ivory lace and satin. She had a band of yellow roses in her hair and carried a basket of yellow roses and baby's breath.

The groom was attended by Sammy Hayes, his cousin/Gary Garner, Randy Higgins, John Shepard and Scott Hayes, a brother of the groom.

Darrin Toney, the bride's brother, was the ringbearer. Seating the guests were Tom Candier and John Causey, uncles of the bride and groom, respectively.

Kim Candier and Tammy Causey, cousins of the bride couple, served as candlelighters.

The groom's parents entertained the wedding party at a dinner held at Tony's Restaurant.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Toney wore a long ice blue organza gown complemented with silver accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Hayes, mother of the groom, selected a full length

Police-jail building offers increased space and efficiency for all city offices and retains basic facilities Downtown

Against a background of regular St. Clair County toppling of proposed Madison County projects due to jealousy and selfishness, it is refreshing to see two Granite City governmental bodies easily and quickly reach a mutually agreed-upon plan.

Both the City of Granite City and Community Unit School District Nine have endorsed use of a $670,000 federal Economic Development Administration grant for construction of a police station and jail on city property in the 2300 block of Madison Avenue.

If there is substantial help available in next year's round of EDA funding, both governmental bodies will back the construction of auto mechanical and other vocational instruction facilities at Granite City High School North.

If the two taxing bodies had feuded and fought over which project should proceed, both would have been blocked.

The decision in most ways conforms with Downtown Granite City's hopes that basic municipal offices will remain in operation at the City Hall, Niedringhaus and Edison Avenues.

[This site on Edison not only contributes to the overall level of activity in the central business district, but also is near the newly-constructed Town Hall, special education center and senior citizen building in the same 2000 block, between Delmar and Edison Avenues.

If the state legislature ever eliminates townships, the Town Hall will become city property in this co-extensive city-township.

As presently visualized, the new $732,000 police complex on Madison Avenue will be a two-story brick structure of 6,000 square feet on each floor. It will house the police department, city jail, a courtroom, a civil defense emergency operating center and possibly some of the municipal offices — such as the engineering and inspection staffs — presently based at 2301 Adams St.

There is no question but that the present City Hall is overcrowded, and that removal of jail cells and police offices would permit more efficient operation of the services that would remain there.

With the growth of the city and its law enforcement personnel, the existing basement police quarters have become increasingly inadequate.

The new building will be a big plus for the police department in its efforts to achieve maximum effectiveness, and is especially attractive in that no rise in city property taxes will be required.

Consider both pro and con on changing voting machines

Before Madison County commits itself to the proposed acquisition of Video Voter voting machines, time ought to be permitted for a review of any negative aspects.

Although the positive side of the electronic vote machine proposal has been receiving emphasis, it is noteworthy that present mechanical voting machines have been operating reasonably well, despite the admitted disadvantage of their large size and weight.

As demonstrated to the Finance Committee of the Madison County Board, Video Voter looks somewhat like a television set and projects candidates' names onto its screen from 35-millimeter film. Supposedly it is impossible to spoil a ballot or to vote for more than the specified number of candidates for each office. It can handle about 60 per cent more candidates than mechanical machines.

Attention is being given to the fact that this county spent $140,000 last year to change its six-column machines to eight-column machines used in the 1976 presidential election. The electronic machine's demonstrator reported a trend toward courts allowing additional parties on ballots, and noted states' inclination toward consolidating elections into fewer election dates.

Along with offering 12 political party columns, Video Voter advocates contend, it could simplify consolidation of precincts to reduce the number of polling places, speed processing of vote results and permit a reduction in the number of poll judges, if there were no legal obstacles. Although paper ballot printing needs would be reduced, ballot films would have to be prepared and programmed.

On the positive side, Coles County, Ill., officials allege that 300 votes were lost in the November 1974 election when several electronic machines failed to operate correctly; there were no legal obstacles. In Livingston County, it is said, 250 votes were lost in November 1976 when an overloaded circuit caused a machine not to record voters' choices. No major problems have been reported with such machines in McDonough County.

Pastor says non-members at fault

To the Editor:

The Granite City Press-Record reported in an article on Page 25, Thursday, June 30, in large, bold print, "Church dispute may go to court."

I am grieved and sorrowful for those people involved in taking internal problems of a church dispute before the community media and the courts.

Our Lord exhorts us to "pray for them that despitefully use us."

I would appreciate the prayers of all Christians in our community during this "trial of our faith."

You reported: "Church looks changed for the past six weeks." The truth is that this

Wednesday morning service was discontinued months ago due to poor attendance and lack of support.

The church officers authorized the changing of locks and this was done on June 6 for several other reasons:

1. Keys were in the hands of many people not attending or supporting church services.
2. Unauthorized meetings were being held by some disgruntled women members bringing people in from doctrinal persuasions not approved by our church government.
3. These disgruntled members and people have not contributed tithes or offerings since last year to pay the expenses of the operation of the church.

The truth is these people who are not members of the church are supported by a "family" clanish holding offices in the church for over 25 years and refusing to cooperate with the pastor and supporting members — filed a lawsuit on Feb. 2 just before the annual business meeting and election. No major problem Miller's name in the community.

Witnesses can well verify harassment in our public services for the last six months. Behavior unbefitting to conduct and character has made true worship almost impossible. Pray for us for a healing balm in Christ.

Firm assures drinking water safety

To the Editor:

The Safe Drinking Water Act interim water standards became effective on June 24. The standards will affect 40,000 water systems in the 50 states, serving an estimated population of 160,000,000.

The Interurban Water Company serves an estimated population of 300,000 in St. Clair and Madison Counties.

The provisions of the act are administered by the Environmental Protection Agency.

The regulations and standards are to protect the health of individuals against anticipated adverse effects.

Previous regulations "came under the Public Health Service drinking water standards."

These interim regulations establish quality standards for a public water supply along with testing and reporting rules.

Permissible levels of inorganic and organic chemicals have been established. Turbidity and micro-biological levels also have been established.

Interurban has routinely conducted bacteriological, inorganic, organic and turbidity testing and will continue to do so.

A particular provision of the Safe Drinking Water Act is that, where standards are exceeded by the utility, the utility must make certain public announcements.

The interim standards could be revised following a study being conducted by the National Academy of Sciences.

The environmental Protection Agency has held 11 seminars throughout the state to explain the provisions of the Act to those in the water supply business.

Interurban maintains a central laboratory for water testing and analysis. The company also uses the services of commercial laboratories as might be required.

He structures career for children's sake

By STEVE BLACK

SPRINGFIELD — Donald Duster has a rule about work: You have to structure your career so that you control it instead of letting it control you.

It's a rule that he worked well for the state's Business and Economic Development director, even though some circumstances have taken control out of his hands.

Duster is black and grew up in a southside Chicago ghetto. He went to Wendell Phillips High School, getting his first taste of the business world clerking in a small neighborhood shoe store.

A math major at the University of Illinois, Duster labored at various times as a caterer, kitchen help in a fraternity and a maintenance man for a black sorority.

In the summers he worked for Spiegel mail-order house. After a stint in the Korean War, Duster was hired full-time by Spiegel as a control buyer.

Then discount stores began to make their way into Spiegel's market and Duster felt his job slipping away.

"They found a convenient way of closing me out," Duster said. "I was too vocal. And if I didn't have time, he makes time."

Duster was snapped up by Commonwealth Edison Co. and there he stayed for 15 years.

Duster said he believes in self-discipline and against in the job market, but added that quota hiring may cause more problems than solutions.

"I have a problem with quotas. It tends to be an inflexible rule. If you look at the situation now you can see that there is a quota in effect now and it's zero for blacks and 100 per cent for whites," Duster said.

He went on, "Having existed in this state and nation I realize that sometimes nature needs a little help. Unfortunately, the help (quota hiring) has been to the detriment of minorities."

Duster said his job is to see that the state's resources are concentrated in areas providing the greatest return for the state's business community and that he must determine if money spent on minority hiring will be worth it to the state.

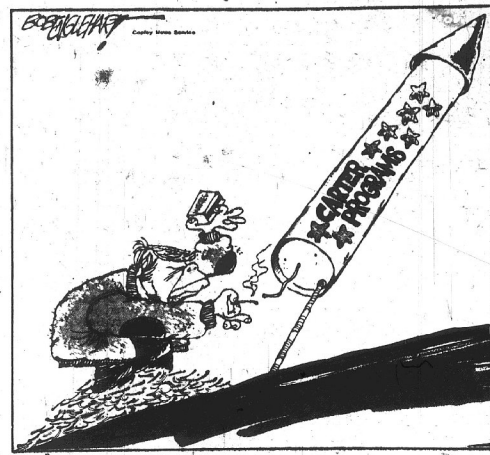

Duster, whose job includes stimulating healthy growth of Illinois' economy, said he thinks the business climate in Illinois is "not too bad." "Unfortunately, the media have projected a negative image about the business climate in the state and it's kind of a self-fulfilling prophecy."

"I hear that Workman's Compensation is bad, but who knows? I'm not sure. But if Workman's Compensation had not been increased, some of the firms wouldn't have left anyway," Duster said.

Duster said he tries to take his children, ages 13, 11, and 8, swimming at the YMCA whenever he can get the time. And if he doesn't have time, he makes time.

"I've been very concerned about my job take up time from my family," he said. "I try to do things like help my son with his math or my daughter with her French. I don't want them to grow up not knowing who I am."

"I didn't make it one leg up the career ladder at some point it was because I thought it wouldn't benefit my children," he added.

STATE JOBS Manpower office expands

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — The Governor's Office of Manpower and Human Development is spending $100,000 in manning the state's new Manpower office.

One of the contracts is with American Management Resources, Inc., a consulting firm headed by Alan Draxel, the former director of the Department of Personnel.

Draxel has ties to L. W. "Bill" Murray, the director of the Governor's Office of Manpower who authorized the contracts.

At one point last year Murray, then a professor at Sangamon State University, attempted to do some consulting work for Draxel's firm. But the firm did not land the contract it was seeking, so Murray was not paid any money.

Immediately after being appointed director of the office, Murray signed a $2,400 contract with Draxel.

The new contract calls for Draxel's firm to be paid $7,250 per month for four months work. Draxel is the project supervisor and another member of the firm performing most of the research.

Murray said Draxel's firm was needed to recommend new personnel code regulations because of the rapid expansion of the number of employees in the office.

He said 24 persons were employed in the office in 1975; 115 are presently employed, and 180 will be working by the end of the year.

Many of the employees carry the title of manpower planner even though their duties vary widely, Murray said, so changes must be made to bring the office's personnel regulations into line.

Here's a sample of the jargon used in the contract: "The contractor shall assist each state assistant director and supervisor in the preparation of an overview of their function. The overview will include mission statements, supporting function statements, workflow charts and organizational charts."

The contractor shall develop a bibliography of legislation, directives, policy statements and delegations of authority germane to the programs operated by the state.

A second contract calls for Boz, Allen & Hamilton, Inc., to be paid $70,000 for four months work.

Murray said one of the major problems the office has had involves the units of

RUMMAGE SALE Want to buy a used firetruck?

By STEVE BLACK

Where does a penny-pinching purchasing agent go to buy a used firetruck?

Or maybe a dozen old books, a case of surgical masks or a mangled dentist's chair?

He goes to the state rummage sale, actually named the Federal Surplus Property Warehouse in Springfield or the Illinois State Agency for Federal Surplus Property.

All this merchandise and more is available to certain governmental units at "prices drastically cut" — compliments of the federal government.

Presently, the property — new, used and abused — is available only to schools, hospitals and civil defense units.

But in October, under the Revised Federal Property and Administration Services Act, all state agencies will be eligible to inspect the merchandise.

The man who runs this mammoth second-hand shop, Eugene McClintock, said $9 million worth of property will be moved in to accommodate the newly eligible bargain hunters.

That would be 2.5 times the amount of merchandise now at the warehouse, McClintock said, and he expects the demand to exceed that supply.

About 25 representatives from institutions visit the warehouse each day, McClintock said, persons from schools, colleges, fire districts and hospitals.

Prison purchasing agents also frequent the warehouse, McClintock said. Correctional facilities qualify for the merchandise since they are a type of school offering vocational courses.

Boxes of khaki shirts, shirts, slacks and trousers are the biggest items for prison buyers, McClintock said. Shoes and boots also are big sellers along with work-benches, tools and storage cabinets.

Assuming you can find what you are looking for, the price is usually right.

Prices are determined solely on the costs incurred in acquiring the merchandise and transporting it to the warehouse and are not based on the value of the product.

Items with an acquisition cost of $300 or less are sold at a 75 per cent discount. Items acquired for $300 to $1,000 are sold at an 80 per cent discount. No item, be it helicopter or bulldozer, can be sold for more than $1,000.

While the heavy equipment and tools are most in demand, the warehouse is crisscrossed with dune buggies, trunks and rags and hangers.

A computer site with wires irretrievably crossed. A field of obsolete desk calculators silently collect dust. Gallons of dishwasher liquid, stain remover and motor oil remain unopened.

An antique sewing machine, dozens of untraveled suitcases, unused syringes and unwanted gas masks are gathered in piles along the floor.

Passing a box of red velvet curtains, McClintock suggests only a state-run massage parlor could find a use for them.

THE LAST STRAW?

NEWS ANALYSIS Howlett favors open primary

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Michael Howlett, the Democratic nominee for governor, said he didn't help either of the two candidates who won (Sey of State Alan Dixon or Governor Bill Murray).

The meetings were supposed to be open, but they retired for an hour in Chicago and came back with a list of changes in granite. That kind of thing will end.

Statenmaking, as you recall, was a major theme of Walker's in the primary campaign. Although Howlett deflected the governor, Walker's allegations stuck to Howlett throughout his campaign against Jim Thompson.

As the result of statemaking, Howlett was perceived as the late Mayor Richard Daley's "puppet."

Bakalis who has gubernatorial ambitions, also had dialogue about statemaking by calling for several reforms in the Democratic Party.

Dixon also endorsed the idea of changing the statemaking process.

The other two unsuccessful Democratic candidates last time, Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan and Senate President Cecil Partee, also said changes would be made.

"I wanted to reform the election process two years ago," Hartigan said. "I favor changing the statemaking process. Essentially we will have an endorsement process, but the candidate will have the endorsement of labor and business groups as well as the Democratic Party."

Partee said:

"The party has to become more open to accept the views of all groups in the selection of candidates and all other aspects of running the party."

Neither Hartigan nor Partee said his problem was statemaking for their defeat.

Hartigan said the main barrier was the state constitution. He was endorsed with Howlett against Thompson-O'Neal rather than simply running against O'Neal.

Partee said his problem was running against an eight-year incumbent (Atty. Gen. William Scott) who had five times as much campaign money to spend.

Although virtually everyone agrees changes will be made, no one is quite sure what those changes will be.

Volunteers at SUE to aid in nursing homes

A new program involving Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville student and staff volunteers with members of surrounding communities will begin next week.

The Community Involvement Project (CIP) at SUE will allow interested students to go into area nursing homes to work with the residents in getting them involved in new and interesting projects, as well as entertaining them, according to Ruth Bunch, coordinator of the project.

Operating out of the student activities office, the program started last week with a training session for students who have prepared presentations for the homes.

Students and faculty volunteers have prepared four specific programs for the summer quarter to begin presentation next week, the coordinator said.

The presentations will be by a group from the department of theater and dance, performing songs from "The Sound of Music" and "The Sound of the City"; two groups from the University craft shop, one employing a portable pottery wheel in demonstrating pottery and one doing a presentation on terrariums; and an art student who will do drawing and assist the residents in drawing.

The coordinator, a student volunteer herself, said the project should allow nursing home residents to have new experiences in using their senses, such as sight and smell, through the University students.

RELEASED ON BOND

Old Style

Brewed in a traditional Old World way called Kraeusening

From the very first day our brewery was opened, Heileman's Old Style has been truly that truly krausened, naturally carbonated, in the traditional Old World way. Krausening is the most natural way to brew beer and the most expensive. Most expensive because krausening takes more time. A pure brewing, double-breasting that Old Style insists on using to this very day. When you brew a beer once you've got a good beer, but when you brew a beer twice you've got a great, light beer and that in essence is what krausening is all about.

Sure, we could use short cuts but we don't, and we won't. Because a Old Style we don't aim to make the most beer, only the best.

That's why Old Style has been truly that truly krausened, naturally carbonated since 1853. Try Old Style.

Insurance firm urges city safety controls

Granite City should conduct a regular safety program under direction of a safety manager, as well as establish safety controls in operating procedures, the Kemper Insurance Co. suggested to city officials last week.

The suggestion was made in a loss-control survey of the city's workmen's compensation program in which the insurance firm suggested that a safety manager be assigned to maintain records, establish controls and conduct safety programs.

Mayor Paul Schuler noted that the city previously conducted such a program in which regular meetings were conducted and safety programs presented. He said the matter would be checked to determine the feasibility of such a program.

On a motion by Alderman Gerald Farmlay of the Sixth Ward, the council voted to concur in the suggestion and the loss-control report.

The council also concurred in a recommendation by the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners to create an additional sergeant's post in the detective division of the Granite City Police Department, but placed the communication on file when the aldermen were told that an ordinance creating the post was to be presented later.

The council adjourned early, however, in a controversy over limits on business procedures in Tuesday night's meeting. The ordinance is expected to be presented for action tonight.

An agreement with Milam-East under which the disposal firm will dispose of additional sludge from the secondary sewage treatment plant without charge also was approved.

Council members were informed that a suit had been filed in Circuit Court by Walter Hall against the city of Granite City. The Illinois Power Co. and Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

The suit asks $15,000 in each of three counts, alleging that the city and the utilities damaged the yard and the home at 4118 Stearns in June and July 1975 as the result of a sewer installation.

Investigate charges of county vote fraud

The Illinois State Board of Elections will launch an investigation this week into Republican allegations of vote irregularities in Madison County during last November's general election.

The board's decision came without debate last week in response to a six-page documentation of alleged Democratic electioneering and voter assistance during the Nov. 2, 1976, election, compiled by the Madison County Republican Central Committee and forwarded to the board on Feb. 25.

Board Chairman Franklin J. Lunding Jr. said at least two expert investigators will be sent to "determine the veracity of the complaints and to develop procedures to prevent similar problems from arising in the future."

Investigators will examine both the Republican document and a report from Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron, which reportedly found "nothing occurred to warrant criminal prosecution," but did find certain irregularities had taken place and included "recommendations for better enforcement next time around," according to Dr. Ronald Michaelson, election board executive director.
